Bend comes to Boston and New England campuses

Bend is a stage production that tells the story of the World War II incarceration of the Japanese Americans through the eyes of a 9-year-old boy. The boy is Robert Maeda, retired Brandeis University Professor of Asian Art History, and the storyteller is his daughter Kimi Maeda. Kimi, an award-winning theater artist, has created a solo performance that deals with the camps, identity, art, and the fragility of memory. She uses sand as her canvas, creating image after image, combining live feed projection of these drawings with archival film footage, personal voice-overs, and audio interviews. New England JACL is bringing this production to a half dozen New England college campuses and to a theater in Brookline to commemorate the 2016 Day of Remembrance. Performance details will be in the February NE JACL newsletter.

2016 JACL Scholarship Program accepting applications

The National JACL Scholarship Program is now underway. Every year JACL offers approximately 30 college scholarships to incoming freshmen, undergraduate and graduate students. There are also student awards for those in need of financial aid. Incoming Freshman scholarship applications are due March 1, 2016. All other scholarship categories are due April 1, 2016. For scholarship information, instructions, and application forms go to: https://jacl.org/jacl-national-scholarship-program/
Applications available for summer Teacher Training
JACL is accepting applications for two NEH Landmarks of American History and Culture teacher training workshops during the summer of 2016. Teachers from across the country will spend six days in Los Angeles for comprehensive sessions covering the Japanese American World War II experience. The first workshop will be held from July 24 to 29 and the second from August 7 to 12. Prominent scholars, community activists, and former internees will share their perspectives on the incarceration experience. Included in the program are visits to Manzanar, Santa Anita Park, the Japanese American National Museum, and a historic tour of Los Angeles’ Little Tokyo. Participants will receive a stipend to offset the cost of travel, hotel and meals. This program is funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities. Application deadline is March 1, 2016. For more information and to apply, go to: https://neh2016.jacl.org/overview/

2016 National Summer Institute for Teachers:
Exploring Nature & Culture in Japan
Showa Boston is offering a summer institute for elementary and middle school teachers to explore content and resources for Japanese topics such as haiku, folk tales, festivals and daily life. They will also cover Japan’s earthquakes, volcanoes, and environmental issues. The program will be held July 27 to 29 on the campus of Showa Boston Institute for Language and Culture in Boston. The course offers 27 PDPs. Teachers attending the institute will be eligible to apply for a heavily subsidized 11-day study tour to Japan in 2017. Application deadline is February 22.
